

Ecological Restoration

Volume 25, Number 3  September 2007

A ribbon cutting celebrates the opening of the Michael S. Bezega Wetlands Observation Area, Rahway, New Jersey in May 2003. The park was named for a Vietnam veteran who had been a member of the nearby St. Johns Russian Orthodox Church. Members of the church, which sits adjacent to the park, were important collaborators in this flood plain restoration project. To learn more, see page 175.
