

Ecological Restoration

Volume 30, Number 3

September 2012

Editorial	155
Little Things Mean a Lot Steven N. Handel

RESTORATION NOTES

Developing a Riparian Bird Index to Communicate Restoration Success in Marin County, California Nathaniel E. Seavy and Thomas Gardali	157
Resolution of Sweet Flag Identity Provides Basis for Managing Contrasting Impacts of Native and Introduced Sweet Flag in North American Ecosystems Donald R. Geiger and Michele G. Banker	160
Survey of Chicago Region Restoration Seed Source Policies Cassi Saari and Wesley Glisson	162
An Unexpected Response of a Bunch Grass (Rough Fescue) to Arbuscular Mycorrhizae Fungi Peggy Ann Desserud and M. Anne Naeth	165

ARTICLES

Identifying Restoration Opportunities for Northern White Cedar by Contrasting Historical and Modern Inventories in an Ecological Classification System Context Eric K. Zenner and John C. Almendinger	169
Hydrochory in the Florida Everglades: Temporal and Spatial Variation in Seed Dispersal Phenology, Hydrology, and Restoration of Wetland Structure Dean Monette and Scott H. Markwith	180
Planting Native Species to Control Site Reinfestation by Japanese Knotweed (Polygonum cuspidatum) R. Howard Skinner, Martin van der Grinten, and Art E. Gover	192
Is Succession-based Management of Coastal Dune Forest Restoration Valid? Matthew J. Grainger and Rudi J. van Aarde	200
Native Grasses Collected from Invasions Demonstrate Invasion Resistance Brian M. Sebade, Ann L. Hild, and Brian A. Meador	209
Restoration of the Mississippi River Gorge: Issues and Research Needs Christian Lenhart	218
Using Prescribed Burning to Restore Granite Rock Outcrop Ecotones in the Piedmont of the Southeastern United States Melissa Caspary and James Affolter	228

ABSTRACTS

Grasslands	237	Invasive & Pest Species	240
Woodlands	237	Wildlife Habitat Restoration	240
Wetlands	238	Ecological Design	241
Lakes, Rivers & Streams	238	Ecological Literacy	241
Coastal & Marine Communities	239	Climate Change	241
Other Communities	239	Monitoring & Adaptive Management	242
Propagation & Introduction	239	Reclamation & Rehabilitation	242

Urban Restoration	243	Economics & Ecosystem Services	244
Endangered Species	243

BOOK REVIEWS

Restorative Commons: Creating Health and Well-being through Urban Landscapes Lindsay Campbell and Anne Wiesen (eds), reviewed by Laura Lawson	244
Introduction to Restoration Ecology Evelyn A. Howell, John A. Harrington, and Stephen B. Glass, reviewed by Truman Young	246

RECENTLY RECEIVED TITLES	247
---------------------------------	-----

MEETINGS	248
-----------------	-----

