Ecological Restoration

Volume 41 • Number 4 | December 2023

Ecological and Socioeconomic Benefits of Tree Planting for Dryland Restoration in Africa

Submit Your Scholarship to Ecological Restoration

The journal seeks papers related to the restoration of terrestrial and marine plants, animals, ecological communities, and systems. We welcome traditional scientific studies and innovative interdisciplinary papers on the ecological, social, and cultural aspects of restoration. The journal is a supportive outlet for papers engaging political, economic, legal, philosophical, and regulatory issues, urban restoration, and related subjects which advance ecological restoration.
